It's all in celebration of grandmothers, here and in Africa.

And it's part of the Stephen Lewis Foundation's Dare to Remember fundraising week, October 17-25, 2009.

So, what's the challenge in having a dinner? The challenge is for Canadians to host 1,000 dinners across Canada to help turn the tide of AIDS in Africa. One thousand dinners all in the same week from coast to coast to coast.

You don't have to bring any food or alcohol. Just your stories of grandmothers and, of course, your checkbook. The funds we raise will go directly to support grandmothers in Africa.

Let's be part of this national event: the 1,000 dinners challenge!
